2010: The Year in Review

The 2010-BOD would like to express our gratitude to all friends and family for their dedicated efforts in making 2010 another successful year for MEA. It was a great honor to share the journey with you all and we hope you had a wonderful year with us!

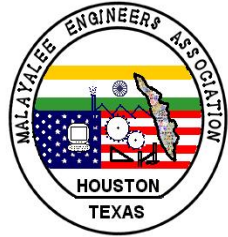

Our spring and Fall Picnics were well attended and proved to be great fun for the entire family. On the food front, we had "barbeque", "kappa & mean". Members' enjoyed several games and other usual events. We also had General Body Meetings where amendments to by-laws were made and the new scholarship coordinator (Soorya Suresh) was elected.

The annual MEA Cultural Evening was a grand success, showcasing the many talents in the MEA family. The event was attended by close to 300 people with over 100 participants showcasing their talents.

The MEA website now provides the facility for online membership payments and scholarship donations. A newly added 'Events Calendar' also provides updates on planned events for the whole year.

The MEA Scholarship Program, completed the first decade since its inception. Ten scholarships were awarded for the year 2010. The MEA scholarship selection criteria and guidelines are now a source of guidance and inspiration for other organizations that have similar goals. MEA expresses its gratitude to all the members, donors and partner organizations whose contributions have made the scholarship program a big success.

In a refreshing development, some of the large Global Corporations have also started supporting the noble cause of MEA scholarship awards. Companies such as General Electric, Microsoft, Chevron Texaco, SBM Atlantia etc matched employee donations (in some cases up to 50% of the donations) thus adding significantly to the scholarship funds. Dallas based MEANT has also graciously increased the number of scholarships to two which is awarded through the MEA scholarship program.
